School of Computing Science – Burnaby Campus

Instructor Evaluation

Instructor's Name: Brian Funt

Course: CMPT 822 – Fall 2012 (1127)

1. What do you consider to be the strongest and weakest features of the instructor, as a teacher?

- Prof is willing to hear what the students think. This is entirely new in SFU!! I really liked that
- It's better to provide more vivid examples to explain the content of the paper we are reading because not all the students take this course are familiar with the colon field
- He is very nice professor and made us a fun class
- I personally got a lot out of this kind of discussion about papers/ideas
- I would have liked more feedback regarding our grade during the semester. At the time of this review all I know is that I've been told to not worry about it. However, I do worry about it.

2. What do you consider to be the strongest and weakest features of the course?

- The papers could be more organized and have a reasonable trend. For example, every few sessions could be assigned to a particular subject
- I wonder if some student got as much out of the discussion as others did. IE: I think some students just wanted to be taught rather than discuss
- A great instructor and a good course nevertheless.
