A Business Site

For this assignment you are to make up a company that sells products (anything of interest to you). Specifically:

- Make up a name, slogan, and graphical logo (design this yourself using image editing software of your choice or using HTML elements and CSS rules) for your company. Don’t use an existing company: make up something of your own that you find interesting.

- Your site must consist of at least 3 separate pages (you can add extra pages if you like):
  1. A home page. The company name, logo, and slogan must all appear on the front page (they can each be separate elements if you like). In addition, the front page must briefly explain what the website is about; look at some existing business websites to get some ideas for what goes on a business home page.
     This page must be accessible at the URL
     \[http://cmpt165.csil.sfu.ca/~username/lab3/\].
  2. A product page that lists all the products you are selling. You must list at least five products, and each product must have at least this information associated with it:
     - A picture of the product. (As always, if you use any images that are not your own, make sure you have permission to use them.)
     - The name of the product.
     - A short description of the product.
     - The product price.
     This page must be accessible at the URL
     \[http://cmpt165.csil.sfu.ca/~username/lab3/products.html\].
  3. An "about" page. This page tells us something about your company, such as who runs it, when it was established, what its vision is, etc. Look at similar pages on real company websites for ideas.
     This page must be accessible at the URL
     \[http://cmpt165.csil.sfu.ca/~username/lab3/about.html\].

- Every page on your website must have a multi-column layout, with one column for navigation. The navigation column must appear on all your pages.

- As usual all of your HTML and CSS must be validate as HTML5 and CSS3.

- Use CSS to make your pages look professional and eye-catching.

- Make use of all the web page design principles (to be discussed starting later in lecture today.) One particular thing we will be looking for is that you use repetition of your company logo in some visually helpful way.

- We expect this to be a very polished and good-looking site — something you would be proud to give to a potential employer as an example of your CSS/HTML skills.
